Intimate Glimpses

By Bea LaForce

One sure way to gain immortality is to become a modem since eyes of the multitudes. This is true even of ordinary men, but when that man is a dynamic leader as was John Fitzgerald Kennedy, one who has gone out among the people and met many thousands of them face to face and won their hearts as few leaders have done before him, then, this man being struck down in his prime before him, then, this man being struck down in his prime

DEHESA

By KATHRYN HEINZ

A severe eleventh-hour storm last Wednesday resulted in most Dehesa residents being without electric service for almost all of Monday. Many phone lines were also out of order for most of the day. Several lines were dead for two days. Lightning struck a transformer in the area which serves portions of the Dehesa Valley. An inch and one half of rain was registered in the gauge at Dehesa School for the early morning hours.

A beef meeting of the Syracus Club of Dehesa was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ande-Dean. The president of the club discussed cuts of beef and their prices. This beef and fruit auction will be held on Saturday at the Mountain Community Hall and chairmen of the auction are scheduled to be, among others, Doug commercial. ALPINE GARDENERS

By Jean McCullough

Since everyone is preparing in advance for Christmas these days, or long before this for that matter, these problems by sending some of these gardens magazines of which there are any number to choose from. For instance: Horticulture is interesting and informative and one with beautiful illustrations as well. Popular Gardening is a good one. Oregon Gardener, Cactus and Succulent, and Foliage are especially interesting for western gardeners.

Gardening Book surely ought to be in the hands of every gardener. The west of course, plants and seeds. Many ideas for gifts and it's a good idea to visit the nurseries early to get choice plants. Camellias and azaleas rank high as gifts, but be sure that different kinds should always be included on your gift list or for your homes. As I mentioned before, plant as many ornamental trees and shrubs as possible and especially after this wonderful rain we have had, they will get away to a good start and bloom in time for spring.

You will see any number of beautiful and interesting things in the nurseries to choose from and no doubt there will be lots of bulbs to be had. It will be a little later in coming along, but will be available.

COKE'S KITCHEN

It's almost too late to actually make these and by this time you have your favorite way of preparing "Old Tom," whether it is in meat, foil cooked in a 450 degrees heat or by grilling the turkey well and cooking by a 350 degree oven, which seems to be the best. Home economists claim gives the most tender, juiciest meat, or even by popping it in a bag paper in which it is will be done by our family. I am afraid the bag gives the same effect as foil except that it is less expensive and, of course, a method used long before aluminum foil became popular.

Have you ever heard or read the old saying, "Lean the turkey" and by this time you have your favorite way of preparing "Old Tom," whether it is in meat, foil cooked in a 450 degrees heat or by grilling the turkey well and cooking by a 350 degree oven, which seems to be the best. Home economists claim gives the most tender, juiciest meat, or even by popping it in a bag paper in which it is will be done by our family. CRANBERRY SALAD

* 1 lb. cranberries
  * 1 cup water
  * 2 cups sugar
  * 1 pkg. lemon gelatin
  * 15 large marshmallows (cup up)
  * 1 cup apples
  * Cook cranberries, water and sugar together until berries separate and dissolve the jello in this mixture, then marshmallows. Cool. Add apples, Rum and Old Fashioned Whiskey. Chill overnight.

Pineapple and Tomato Apple

For tomato aspie, dissolve 8 oz. pkg. lemon gelatin in boiling water and stir up to No. 2 can of pineapple chunks. Stir in 1 cup tomato sauce and 2 tsp. lemon juice. Chill in shallow pan or jelly cube tray. Unmold, cut in cubes with knife. Serve with the bright flavor of chunks. Serves 5 to 6. Note: Don't insert ice divider as it does not work in unloading your saladin.
MOTHER GRUNTY

By OLIVE WOODRIDGE

I was impressed by the eloquence, majesty and grace with which Mrs. Kennedy carried on. It was something unique for Americans and they can justly be proud. Her selection of meaningful symbols and her simple expression of action can well be an example for all of us in displaying the importance even from the most terrible of tragedies.

MT. LAGUNA

By KATHY McMANUS

The weather on Mt. Laguna was rainy and very cold. At work until Nov. 20, that Wednesday night it began to snow, and kept on snowing until late Thursday morning. Mt. Laguna High School students who attend Mt. Empire, did not attend school that day as it was impossible for the driver of the school has to come up the mountain grades.

Mrs. Addison Woods left Sunday afternoon to travel by plane to Oakland, Calif., to attend her sister's funeral.

At 11:15 a student walked into Mr. Martin's class and asked, "Have you heard, President Kennedy has been shot in the head?" Mr. Martin looked up from his desk, uttered astonishment filled his face. "Are you telling the truth?" The students were filled with surprise. Mr. Martin pointed to two boys, "go turn on the radio in my car." A moment later the entire class ran out of the room and crowded around the car and the radio was turned up. The first words they heard was, "The President of the United States, John F. Kennedy is in the Navy Hospital undergoing a series of tests. Approximately 15 minutes later it was unofficially announced that President Kennedy received the last rites of the Catholic Church. A moment later they heard the words that none of them wanted to hear. "The President of the United States, John F. Kennedy is dead." The girls looked at each other as tears filled their eyes. boys turned to their desks, laid their heads with disbelief. Mr. Martin walked back into the room without a word. Many of the weeping girls walked over to the Home Economics room and sat down. Others walked into the locker room, where they could cry privately, before turning to not disturb Mr. Martin to his still in a moderate state of shock. At last the bell rang and the students dispersed for lunch. The day wore on. The students listened to radios. At last the final bell rang and the students piled onto the buses and the quiet and sanctity of their homes.

PINE VALLEY

By JUDY MILLHIS

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Mayhorn are suffering from carbon monoxide poisoning. Their daughter and the motor running, several of them became violently ill. It was soon discovered that they were suffering from carbon monoxide poisoning. John Pingley, R. T. Bayles, Les Popp, Bob Pharr, and Paul Hater, all members of the Pine Valley Fire Department, administered first aid to the father of the larger family and three of his children.

Buddy Hilly came down to the Fire Station from his service station at Gunay when he heard about the trouble and he and Paul Blackburn, from the Pine Valley Fire station, did some repair work on the car. The repairs done on the car included replacing the damaged muffler.

A gun and mineral show, considered to be the West's largest, is presented as a free attraction at San Diego County's National Date Festival at Indio, Feb. 14 through 23.

hundreds of people gathered throughout the week. The Alpine Kiwanis Club, as a whole, participating in the Memorial Services for our late President, held Monday at the Community Church.

And, on the other side of the street, the noticeable decrease of parsons normally seen enjoying themselves in the relaxing sounds of the Log Cabin Cafe. As Paul Smith put it, "This is usually the happiest time of the year, with snow in the mountains and approaching holidays, however, the atmosphere here has been somber and anything but normal.

Sounds. Even though this is Thanksgiving Day, I think passing on to you the following statements made by Alpiners on the subject of the past week's events, would be quite fitting and we all might like to remember their words in days to come. Renee Hostet. President of the Alpine Kiwanis Club. "I feel keenly sorrowful and upset. With two murderess assassinations, wonder where it will all end. My fervent prayer is that we will all reaffirm our belief and faith in what America truly stands for, and in so doing, bring us all to our senses." Jack Hirstad, Alpine businessman. "This has been wholly un-American and we just cannot accept it. In times of crisis and tragedy, the American people tend to draw together, and I've personally felt this happening already here in Alpine."
